Gender Demographics

Women represent about one third (32.3%) of the total ASMS membership, which represents a 19% increase from last year.

Gender and Country Demographics

While the woman to man one-half ratio (0.54) is roughly maintained internationally, the USA (0.59), China (0.65), and Canada (1.15) show slightly higher woman to man ratios.

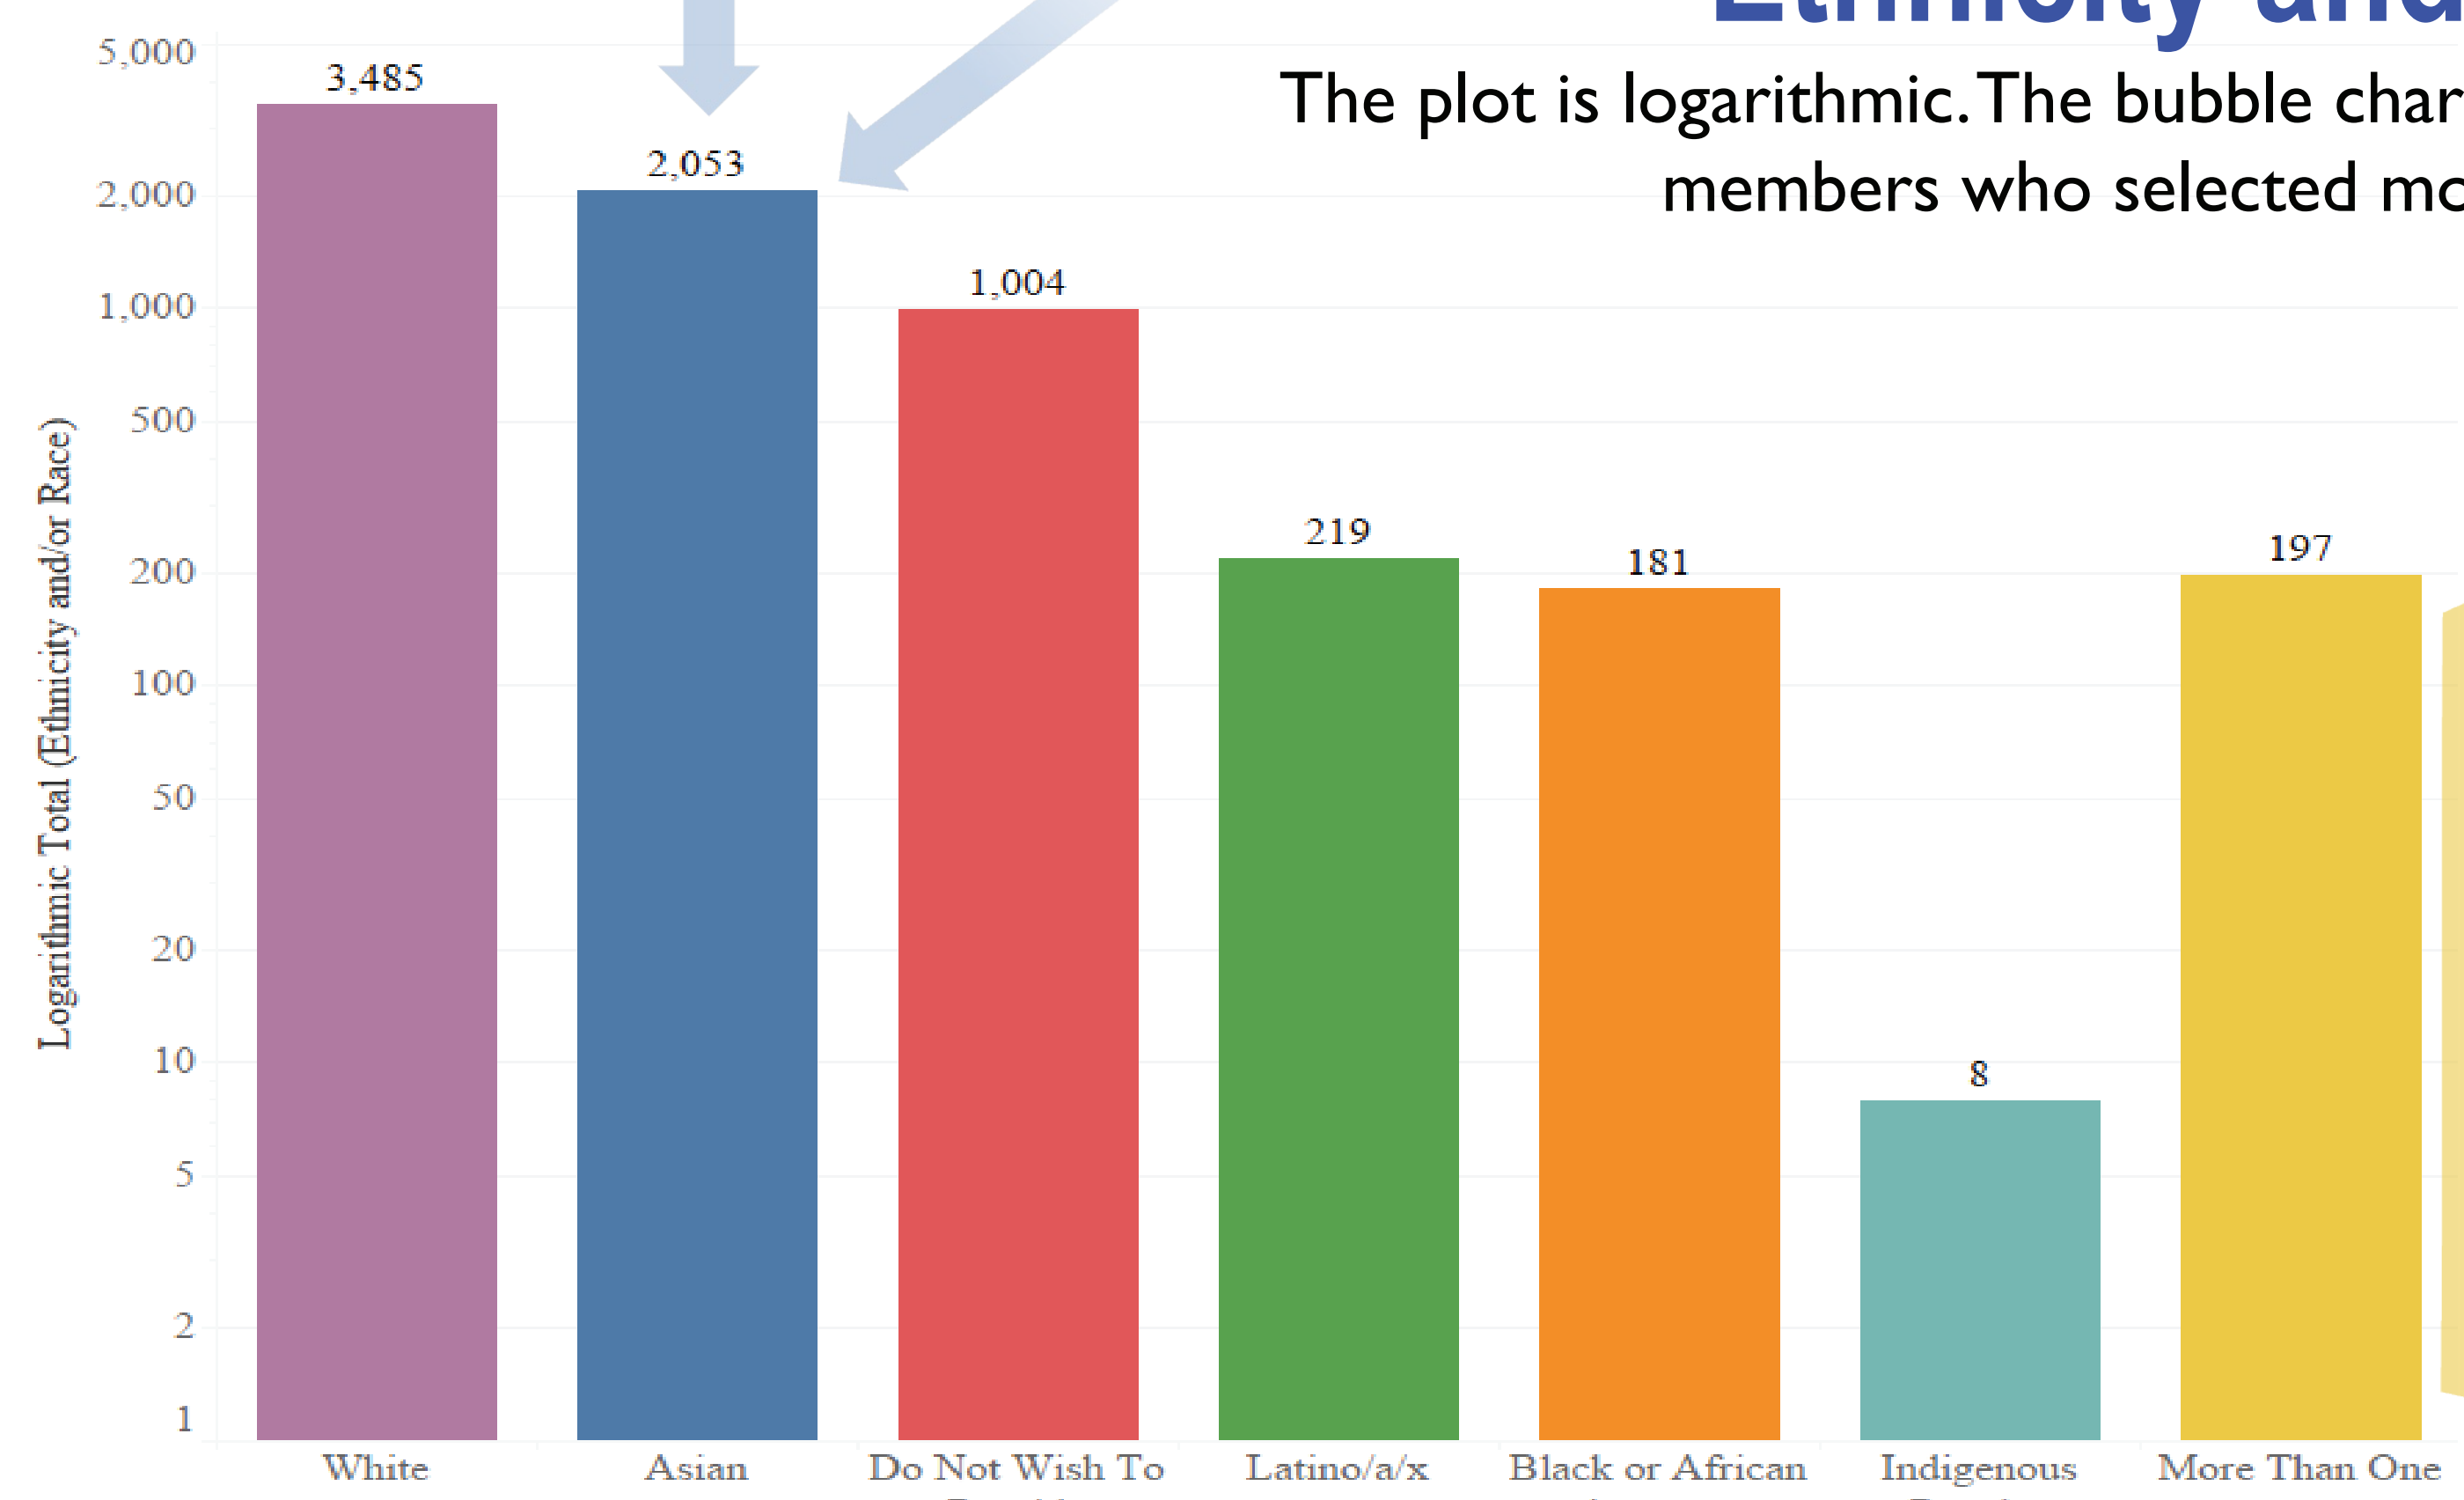

77.5%

White and Asian populations remain the largest member groups and represent 77.5% of members, followed by the "Do Not Wish To Provide" category with 14.0%. East Asian and South Asian populations represent 83.3% of Asian ASMS members. The bubble chart on the right shows the choices for members who selected more than one race.

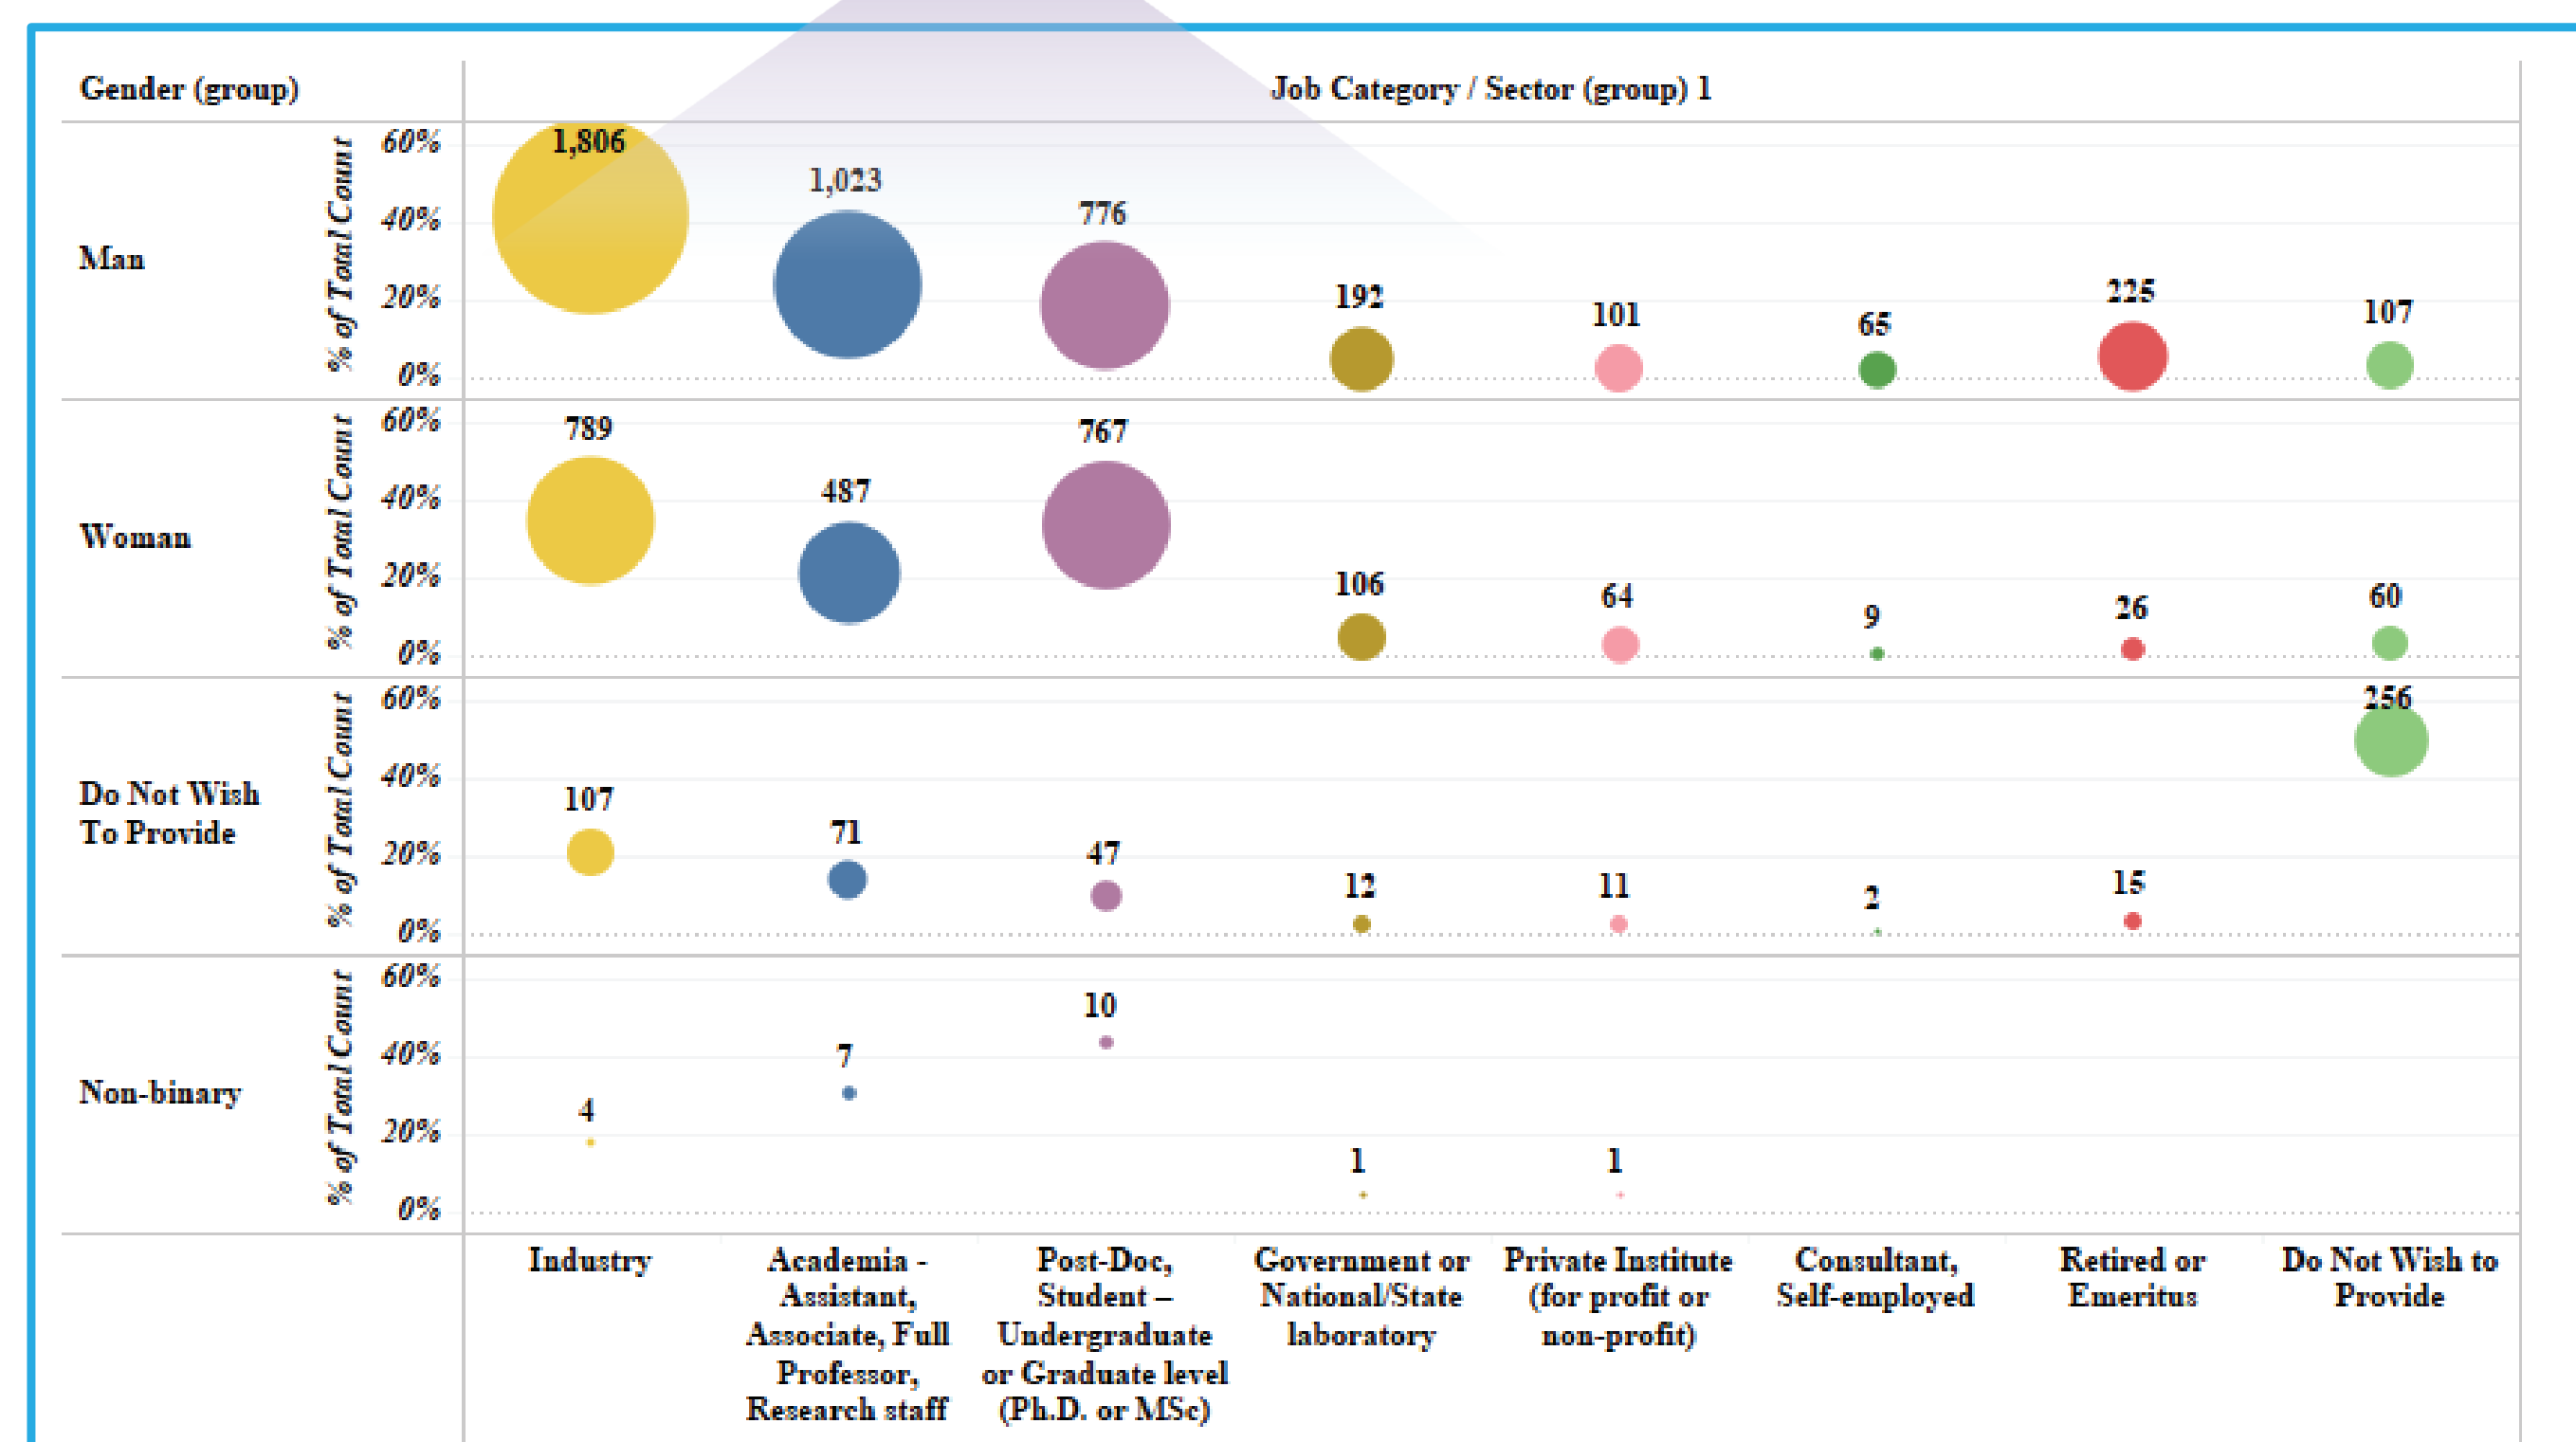

Ethnicity and/or Race

The plot is logarithmic. The bubble chart (right) shows the choices for members who selected more than one race.

29.2% Job Categories by Gender

Regardless of gender, industry is a very large component of ASMS membership accounting for 40.2%. Academia accounts for 42.7% and Government labs for about 4.6% of the total.

Full-time positions in industry, academic, and the government sectors are dominated by men. Of these sectors, women's share is the lowest in industry (29.2%) and highest in academia from all sources (37.1%).
